MONTEVERDI VESPERS

The Monteverdi Vespers of 1610 is astonishing for the grandeur of its conception and the opulence of its sound.

Rebecca Lea (Soprano)
Rebecca Outram (Soprano)
Matthew Long (Tenor)
Greg Tassell (Tenor)
Njabulo Madlala (Bass-baritone)
Keel Watson (Bass-baritone)

It is the most ambitious work of religious music of its time. No other surviving work from that era is written on such a scale, combining the grandest of public music with the most intimate of solo songs. No other work calls for so many colourful obbligato instruments, or uses them in such a daringly modern, virtuosic way.

WCS is delighted to be working again with Charivari Agréable, whom the Observer newspaper described as “one of the classiest baroque bands around”. Similarly, the Guardian newspaper says “You are seduced by the exquisite refinement of sound and incredible intensity”.
